

The American Society of Civil Engineers (ASCE) Multi-Region Leadership Conference (MRLC) will be held in Orlando, Florida January 25-26, 2019! The warm weather and bustling activity hub attracted the conference leaders as an ideal location, with a multitude of event venues and riveting engineering and construction projects available to highlight. Help us bring engineering professionals and the future engineers of America to our ever-growing area!

The MRLC is attended by over 400 practicing engineers and engineering students from 24 states along the east coast. This conference provides critical training, education, professional development, and networking opportunities for all attendees. Seminars include round table discussions, leadership training, management skills, project presentations, and keynote speakers from local businesses, community leaders, and politicians.

We intend to host events at unique local sites, highlighting the diversity of the Orlando community, along with our ever-growing economy.

Your company’s involvement supports the conference and showcases what makes Orlando different, and more than just a theme park destination!
